PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Summer in Michigan is a great time of year for our many recreational activities. We have to squeeze our outdoor fun into a shorter period of time than what the southern states do that have warmer temperatures the year 'round. Consequently there is less time for our collecting hobbies than in the winter time. We do have two big events though that are always in the summer that keeps our interest humming. These are; The Memphis Paper Money Show and the A.N.A. that was held in Pittsburgh this year.

The Memphis Paper Money Show was held June 23 - 25 and it was a great success as always. Everyone that collects paper money always point to this show and we have many from here in Michigan that make the trip down there each and every year in search of new treasures. The exhibits under the supervision of Martin Delger and his helper, Al Vonk, were tremendously educational. Each year we see more exhibitors and on different subjects. PMCM always has a meeting at the Memphis Show and has a speaker for our program. This year it was our pleasure to have Ira Friedberg there, who is the editor of "Paper Money of the United States", the big red, white, and blue text book we find so useful. Irwin Tyler, who works with Ira, gave us a talk and demonstration on grading paper money by use of a computer. It involved looking at a note and answering the questions the computer asked in the relationship of various categories. For example: On Margins: were they all there, were they wide, narrow, or cut into the design, etc; On Soiling; was it moderate or severe, On Brightness; was it bright or dull? After going through all of these categories of grading a note, the computer would give an overall grade to the note based on the various answers given. This system will never replace your own eyes or knowledge but will give you the self confidence of your grading when you take the note home so you can use your computer on it.

I also attended the A.N.A. in Pittsburgh and had a great time. Bought coins and two Michigan Nationals for my collection. The prices of obsoletes are really getting up there so now many of them equal the cost of small size nationals and many of the other cheaper type notes. The A.N.A. always draws a big collector group and this year was no exception.

Michigan State Fall Show is at Dearborn just after Thanksgiving and PMCM is co-hosting this show so we need lots of helpers to assist at the registration desk, the entry door, setting up and taking down tables, etc. Please contact the editor, John Tomassi if you can be available for even just a couple of hours. Help is needed!!!!

ASSISTANT CASHIER SIGNATURES ON NATIONAL BANK NOTES
by Frank Clark #2104

Large size National Bank Notes (1863 - 1929) were received by the issuing bank from the Treasury Department ready for circulation with the exception of the signature of the President or Vice-President and Cashier of the bank. At the beginning of the national bank note program written signatures on the notes were necessary. The Treasury Department did not authorize any change in this respect. However, when national bank note issues were becoming quite large for certain banks and to possibly save time for all bank officers, no exception was made to printed or stamped signatures as distinguished from written signatures. It should be noted in this connection that all national bank notes issued to or received by a bank were subject to redemption whether or not the notes were signed by the officers of the bank.

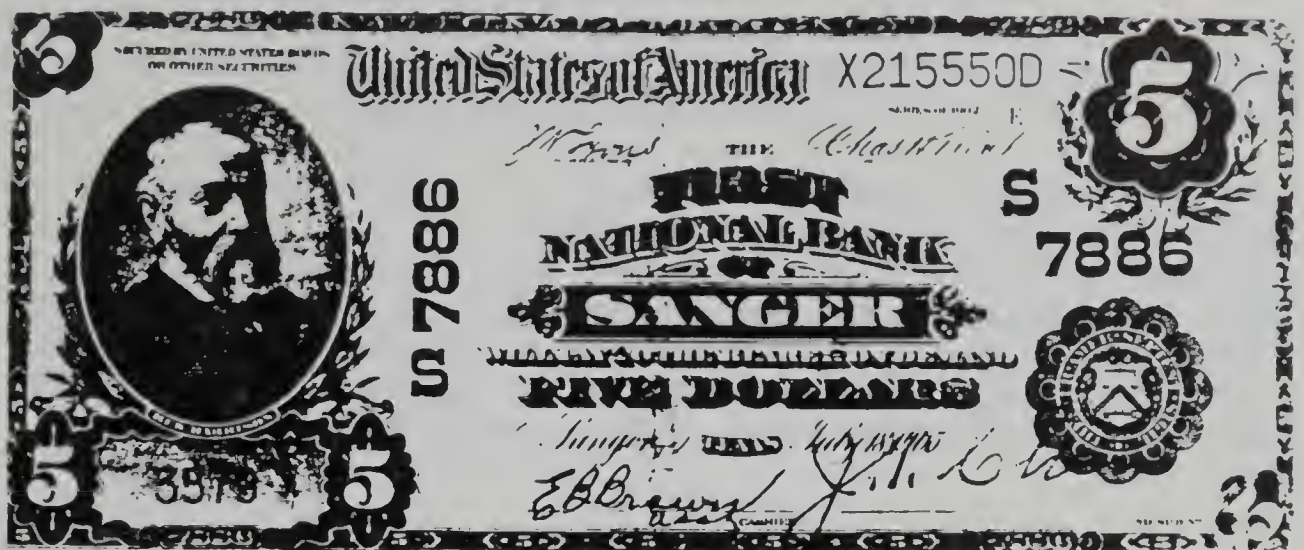

Whether written, printed or stamped, the signatures appearing on the notes must have been those of the President or Vice-President and Cashier of the bank. Neither an acting President or Vice-President, nor an Assistant or acting Cashier, was authorized to sign national bank notes.

Even with the above law there are national bank notes known that were signed by an Assistant Cashier. It is not known if the banks were ignorant of the law or if the banks would purposely disobey the law. Also, it is not known if the Treasury Department would notify a bank of its mistake, or if the bank would be penalized in any way. The Treasury Department would find out the signature discrepancy when the notes came in for redemption or when the bank examiner visited the bank. Bank examinations were done twice a year.

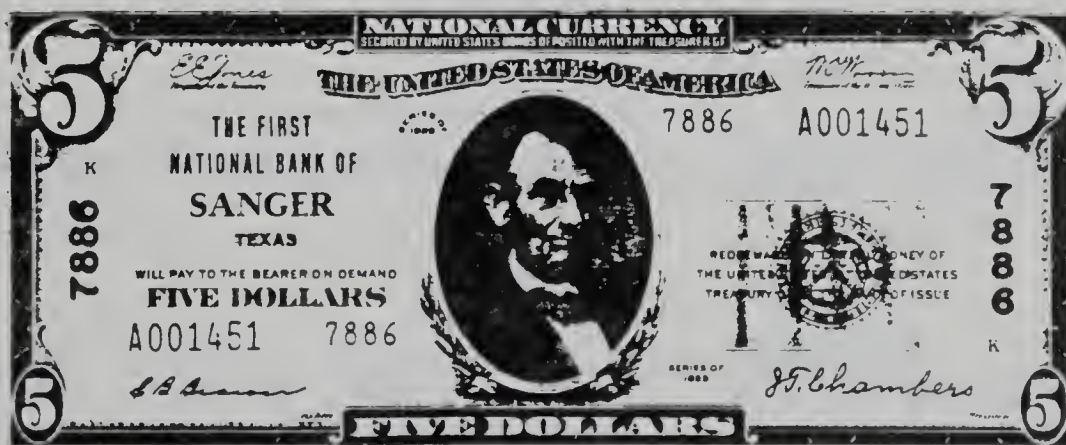

When an Assistant Cashier would sign a note, he would write "Assistant", "Asst" or possibly only an "A" before the engraved word "Cashier" on the note. This is an exciting variation to look for when it comes to collecting national bank notes.

The first note pictured is a $5 national bank note from the Third Charter Period on the First National Bank of Sanger, Texas; charter number 7886. The "Arrow" points to the "Asst" Cashier signature of E.B. Brown. It is handwritten, while the signature of the President, J.T. Chambers is stamped. This note dates from the early to mid 1920's.

Assistant Cashier Signatures con't.

The second note pictured is a $5 Series 1929 small size national bank note on the same bank. It is a Type II since the charter number is listed four times on the face of the note (7886). This means the note was issued between 1933 and 1935. The bank officers are the same but E.B. Brown has been promoted to Cashier. These signatures were engraved on the plates for the notes by the Bureau of Engraving and Printing. Therefore, one will not find "Assistant" Cashier on any of the small size national bank notes.

1989 CSNS FALL CONVENTION - EXHIBIT WINNERS

In Battle Creek, MI at the Central States Numismatic Fall Convention, Sept. 8 - 10, 1989 there were 23 fine educational exhibits in 54 display cases. All exhibits placed were exceptional in quality and content.

The "Best of Show" winner was Robert Sayre with the exhibit entitled; "One Half Crown Size Coin From Each Country 1791 - 1950".

The first place winner in the All Paper Money Class was James J. Jack with the exhibit entitled; "Pioneer Family Notes by Treasury Seal". Second place winner was Charles Fenwick with "The Erie and Kalamazoo Rail Road Bank Notes".

There were six non-competetive guest exhibits which are as follows:

"Indian Chiefs on U.S. Bank Notes" by John Wilson

"Type Set of Second Issue fractional Currency"

By Nancy Wilson

"Life Saving Medals" by Max Brail

"The State Bank of Michigan - Detroit"

by Charles Fenwick

"Encased Coins" by Michael L. Kolman

"Masonry and U.S. Presidents" by Raymond Diller

The Educational Exhibit Chairman was John Nammensma and the judges were; Max Brail, John Wilson, Nancy Wilson, Al Bobrofsky and Kurt Krueger.

MEMPHIS 13th ANNUAL PAPER MONEY CONVENTION

The PMCM meeting June 24, 1989 was attended by 14 persons some of which were guests including Ira Friedberg from "Paper Money of the United States" and guest speaker Wendell Tyler on "Computer Grading of Paper Money".

A note was graded using the information given the computer when questions were answered concerning crispness, tears or folds, soiling, centering, etc. This may be helpful to those of us who do have computers or access to one or to dealers, who in turn would help the small collector. Could it more clearly define a standard grading practice used and recognized by dealers and the collector alike and "slab" notes for the investor, or will Paper Money stay a true collectable?

DISTINCTIVE SERIES 1907 $5 UNITED STATES NOTE
FEATURED BY THE BUREAU
AT THE INTERNATIONAL PAPER MONEY SHOW

The $5 United States Note (Series 1907) face featured on the Bureau of Engraving and Printing's International Paper Money Show (IPMS) souvenir card a classic work of engraving. The superb portrait of Andrew Jackson was engraved by Alfred Sealy, based on a painting by the renowned American artist, Thomas Sully. The central vignette of a pioneer and his family was captured in fine detail by engraver Henry Gugler.

This note, unlike series prior to 1907, features a red "V" with a banner draped across on the left side of the note. The word "Dollar" is spelled out within the confines of the banner. An offset reproduction of a figure taken from the Centennial Share Certificate of 1876 creates a background motif for this card.

This souvenir card may be purchased at;

The Bureau of Engraving and Printing - in Washington D.C. in mint condition. Available until December 31, 1989 or while supplies last.

AGRICULTURAL SCENE FEATURED AT IPMS 1989

The second of three special die stamped intaglio prints, to be issued by the Bureau of Engraving and Printing for 1989, was featured at the IPMS Show in Memphis June 23 - 25, 1989. An agricultural scene in the forefront of this elegant print depicts farming as a major industry in the economic composition of early America. The covered wagon, and train project the idea of westward expansion and emergence of a growing nation. A sailing ship and steamship, to the right of the agricultural scene, express advances in technology and the expansion of trade to other continents.

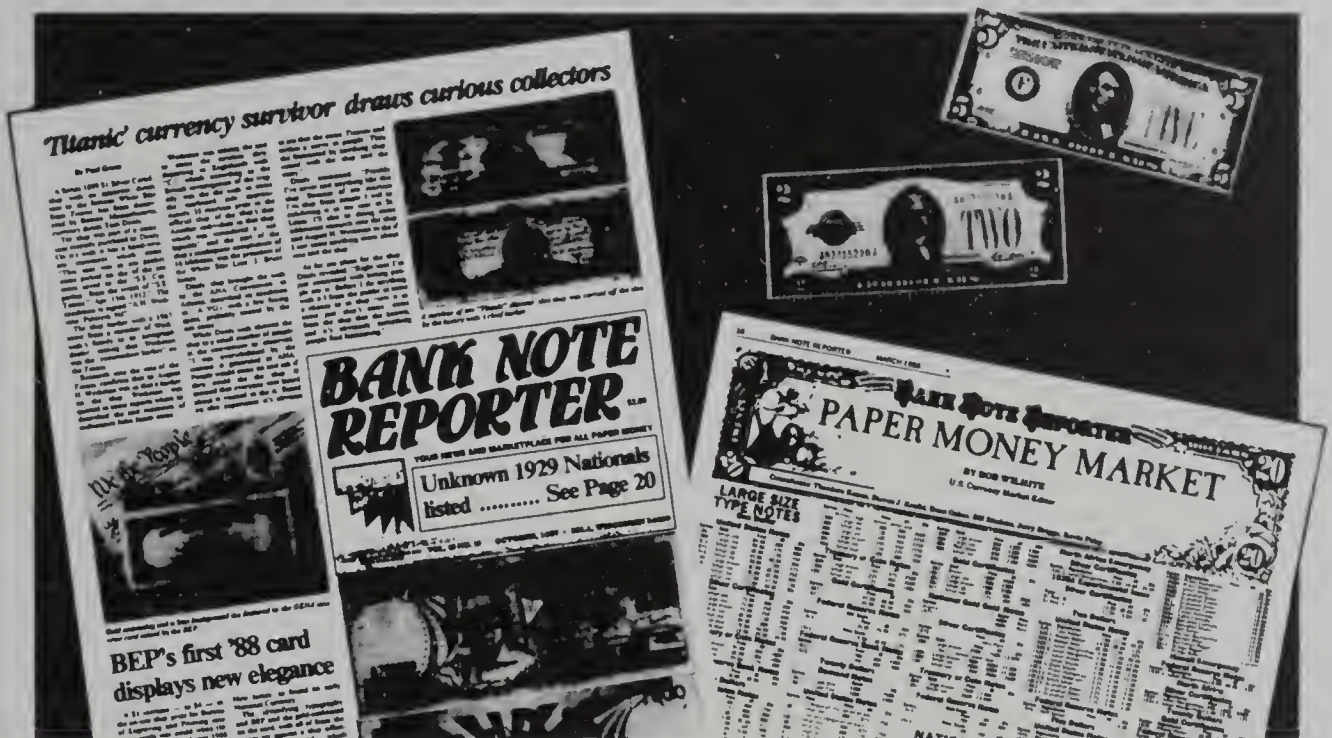

Available at the Bureau of Engraving and Printing in Washington, D.C. or by mail until December 31, 1989 or while quantities last.

DEALERS

We are considering a dealers list for a future issue of the Ragpicker, hopefully for the Jan - March 1990 publication. This list would include the dealers name and address and their speciality in numismatics. A fee may (or may not) be required. If interested contact the editor with your views. EDITOR.
